

TECHNIKON

Technikon Forschungsgesellschaft is a collaborative, innovative, internationally active company based in the city centre of Villach that specializes in international research services. A key to the company's long-standing success lies in recognizing strengths and promoting individual potential and internationality.

Project Manager Full-Time / Part-Time

We are looking for people with hearts, brains and a strong personality to work in close collaboration with our team in the field of research and development.

Interested? Write us!

Your Profile

- Completed university education (technical or business administration subjects)
- Strong communication skills and very good knowledge of English
- Ability to work in a team and high social competence
- Personal commitment and ability to work independently and on your own responsibility
- Very good MS Office skills

Your Responsibilities

- Organization and participation in operational cooperation in the area of research and development
- Project manager for international cooperation and research projects (e.g. Horizon Europe)
- Interface between industrial researchers, scientists and national and international funding organizations
- Preparation, creation and management of national and international project funding applications (e.g. Horizon Europe, FFG)
- Travel to meetings within Europe 1-2 times per year

We offer

- Flexible, independent and project-oriented work in a young, international and dynamic team
- Independent work in a motivating working environment and direct contact with our industrial research partners
- Collaboration in / management of innovative, European research projects
- Participation in / management of international meetings and workshops
- Development opportunities within the company and professional development through co-design and independent action
- Home-office option
- Family-friendly working environment with childcare facilities
- Flexible working hours
- Basic salary according to our collective agreement: Kollektivvertrag Information und Consulting, Angestellte, 1.1.2024 - WKO. An overpayment depending on qualifications and experience is possible

Interested?

If you are interested, please contact Patrick Leczek at jobs@technikon.com.